

square mile

London's coolest bachelor pads

This is where the magic happens, ladies... Gone are the days of BACHELOR PADS evoking images of stuffy, sock strewn bedrooms and grubby, pokey kitchens. Thesedays, London bachelor pads come with everything from rooftop terraces to tech-filled living rooms. Here are three man caves we wish we owned...

PROPERTY | FEATURES

PUBLISHED: WEDNESDAY 25TH NOVEMBER 2015

For style lovers: Beau House

Located on Jermyn Street in St James's, boutique residence Beau House is heavily inspired by the men's style and tailoring heritage of the area. The development is named after Beau Brummell, a celebrated arbiter of fashion and taste in the 1700s who was credited with introducing the modern men's suit and necktie. Today, Jermyn Street is home to prestigious menswear brands including Turnbull & Asser, Emmett London and the Thomas Pink flagship store. When you're done frittering your cash away on clobber, head up to your 4,000 sq ft penthouse, spanning two floors and boasting a huge private roof terrace that's kitted out with everything from an outdoor kitchen to an AV entertainment system. Did someone say rooftop party?

Around £15m. beauhouselondon.com

